Leif Nordgren led the U.S. juniors
at the World Youth/Junior Championships in Sweden.

World Youth/Junior Championships -

The Youth and Jr. World Championships 2010 took place in Torsby, Sweden January 27th to February 2nd. For the U.S. team, Leif Nordgren was the highlight starting the week with an 11th place in the individual race and then earning two top-tens with a 6th in the sprint and a 5th in the pursuit race where he had the second best ski time. The top women's results were turned in by Grace Boutot in the Junior Women's class with a 34th place finish in the Individual race and a 37th place finish in the Pursuit race. Both Grace and Leif had previous won medals in the Youth classification. The races were held in relatively cold conditions with a fair amount of new snow falling especially during the Junior men's Individual race.

Individual Races – Clean shooting provided Canadian Rose-Marie Cote success in the Women's Youth category with a 3rd place finish behind two Russians; Olga Galich and Elena Badanina. It was Galich's second individual title as World Champion after winning last year in Canmore, Canada. This year she finished in 33:35.7 with two misses at the shooting range. She was 1:25.4 ahead of Badanina who also had two misses. Rose-Marie Cote was 1:46.8 behind the winner. In her first race she was hoping to have a top 20 finish and was not too surprised by her good performance at the range: "I focused my training on the shooting and did a lot of dry fire and shooting on paper targets." Still, she did not expect to be in the medal ranks. "I was born in 1993 and will really have my first year being in the youth next year." The best U.S. finisher in the class was Andrea Mayo in 57th place with Kelly Kjorlien finishing 62nd, Afton Synder 71st and Silke Hynes 73rd.

The Junior Women's Individual race was won by Romanian Reka Ferencz who secured a place on her nation's Olympic team with the win. Germany's Karolin Horchler took the second spot with Leslie Mercier of France trailing her by 13 seconds for 3rd place. Both Ferencz and Horchler had clean shooting while Mercier missed one target. Grace Boutot had a great start, cleaning her first two stages, however 4 missed prone targets in the third stage and a final standing miss dropped her in the results to 34th place. Addie Byrne missed a total of 6 to finish 48th.

Leif Nordgren, who took bronze in the 2008 youth pursuit at the WJCH had to battle heavy snow in the Junior men's race. His World Cup experience helped him to an 11th place 3:46.6 minutes behind French winner Yann Guignonnet. Starting with number 45, he was among those who experienced hard conditions on the track, but he felt "four misses considering the heavy snow was not too bad." Yann Guignonnet wore the bib number 3 and was clearly aware how lucky he had been to miss most of the heavy snow. He won in a time of 41:11.3, missing one target. Italian Michael Galassi who missed three times and ended up 39.8 seconds back in 2nd with 3rd place going to Tom Barth of Germany, who started with number 81 and was one of the last athletes to go into the snow-laden tracks. He started late of his own choice and admitted that, "it was obviously a mistake." He made up for the disadvantage with an excellent performance at the shooting range, staying clean in all four stages; the only athlete to do so.

Ethan Dreissigacher led the U.S. men in the Youth class with a 43rd place finish in 44:52.8 with 6 misses on the range. Raleigh Goessling also had 6 misses, finishing 45th (45:04.0). Casey Smith was close behind in 47th place (45:11.7, 5 misses) and Conrad Roberts was 78th (51:48.4, 10 misses). Martin Maier of Austria won thanks to his perfect shooting. Aleksandr Pechenkin of Russia finished only 25.1 seconds behind Maier despite his three shooting penalties and Vette Sjastad Christiansen from Norway finished in 3rd place.

Sprint Races – Evgeny Petrov of Russia claimed the Junior men's sprint race just two seconds ahead of Germany's Manuel Müller. Müller, who was the winner of last year's individual race in Canmore was joined on the podium by his teammate Tom Barth, 39.4 seconds back. Both Müller and Barth had one penalty while Petrov was perfect on the shooting range. It was Barth's second trip to the podium having won the bronze medal in the individual race as well. Leif Nordgren was 47.4 seconds behind Petrov in 6th place after missing one standing target. Leif was disappointed with the miss saying, "I was trying to shoot clean so I was taking my time, taking each target shot by shot. I over held the shot a little bit and it ended up as a miss. For the next three I sped up to a normal speed and they all fell fine." In the calm shooting conditions he was happy with his prone shooting after missing 4 targets in the individual race.

Johannes Kühn of Germany took the Youth men's sprint title with one penalty in 20:10.4, 29.5 seconds ahead of Aleksandr Pechenkin of Russia. Pechenkin had two penalties, but claimed his second Silver medal of the week, after finishing in the same spot in the Individual competition. Third went to Norwegian Vette Sjastad Christainsen, who also won Bronze in the Individual. Casey Smith had the best U.S. finish in 32nd place, with a time of 23:03.8 and one miss. Ethan Dreissigacher missed three targets and finished 45th while Raleigh Goessling and Conrad Roberts were 69th and 75th with 4 and 5 misses.

Grace Boutot and Addie Byrne finished 2 seconds apart in 45th and 46th places in the Junior women's sprint race, each having 2 misses on the range. Addie's penalties came in the prone shooting while Grace missed during the standing stage. They were just over 4 minutes behind the winner Maren Hammerschmidt of Germany who was perfect on the range finishing with a time of 22:56.6. She was followed 17 seconds later by Sophie Boilley of France who missed one target, and Norway's Synnoeve Olemdal who missed 3 targets and was 43.5 seconds back. For the Youth women, Afton Snyder and Kelly Kjolien finished 8.4 seconds apart in 57th and 58th place. Each also missed two targets, one each in prone and standing. Andrea Mayo missed three targets, finishing in 65th and Silke Hynes was 71st with 2 misses. Winning the race with perfect shooting was Russia's Elena Badanina. Badanina, who was 2nd in the Individual race was 17 seconds ahead of Sweden's Ingela Andersson who had one miss. Third place was taken by Poland's Monika Hojnisz who also had one miss, 21.4 seconds behind the winner.

Pursuit Races – In the Junior men's pursuit race Evgeny Petrov and Manuel Müller started almost simultaneously with only 2 seconds between them, but well ahead of their competitors. However at the first shooting stage, Müller shot clean while Petrov missed three, and from that moment there was never any doubt that Müller's victory in 35:38.34 was in question. The rest of the field, including Leif Nordgren was 50 seconds behind fighting for the other medals. Mathieu Souchal of France moved up. However, everything changed again during the final shooting stage. Petrov worked his way to the front again and was only 17 seconds behind Müller after the German had made his only shooting error of the day during the first standing stage. Petrov, as well as a number of the other competitors missed two targets in the final shooting stage. Vladimir Alenishko of Belarus hit every target and went into the last lap together with Petrov. They fought right up to the finish line but Alenishko fended off the attack of the Russian in the final meters before the finish and won the Silver medal, while Petrov took the Bronze. Leif could also not take advantage of the opportunity during the final shooting stage and ended up in fifth place, with five penalties, 1:28.5 back.

Missing only one target Aleksandr Pechenkin won the delayed Youth men's pursuit race, reversing the results of the sprint race by finishing ahead of Johannes Kühn. The race was delayed due to the -20° C temperature and was the final race of the day rather than the first. Pechenkin said the postponement made him nervous; however he finished with only one penalty in 27:34.40, well ahead of Kühn who made four trips to the penalty loop. Third place went to Russian Ivan Pichuzhkin. Ethan Dreissigacher improved his 45th start position to finish 36th, with five misses along the way. Casey Smith missed 6 targets and dropped from his 32nd start position to finish 56th.

Grace Boutot also improved her result in the Junior women's pursuit, moving up from her start position of 45th to finish 37th, missing 4 targets. Addie Byrne finished 47th, with 6 misses. After winning Silver in the sprint Sophie Boilley won the race with three penalties and a time of 31:48.98, 22.1 seconds ahead of Anastasia Kalina of Russia who shot clean. Synnøve Solemdal (NOR) and Maren Hammerschmidt (GER) waged a tight battle for 3rd with Solemdal using fast skis on the final lap to finish 7.9 seconds ahead of Hammerschmidt. In the Youth women's race Kelly Kjørlien missed only two targets to improve her start spot from 56th to 40th at the finish. Afton Snyder also moved up from 57th to 53rd missing a total of 7. The podium of looked the same as the sprint as Elena Badanina (RUS) who started with a 17 second lead, had 2 penalties, and won by 5 seconds. The silver went to Ingela Andersson (SWE) who had three penalties and Bronze went to Moniko Hojnisz (POL), also with three penalties, and 11 seconds back.

Relay Races – The final day of the Championships was filled with four exciting Relay competitions however the U.S. teams competed in only the Youth category. A Junior women's team was entered with Kelly Kjørlien joining Grace Boutot and Addie Byrne, however they did not start. Kelly did race with Afton Snyder and Silke Hynes on the team that finished 16th in the Youth women's relay. Russia won the Junior women's race, using only 3 reserve rounds, 29.7 seconds ahead of Norway who also needed only 3 reserve rounds. Norway barely edged out Germany by only two-tenths of a second when Synnøve Solemdal used her superior ski speed to put Germany, Poland and France behind her. The Russian's shooting was not as good for the youth women, needing 12 reserve rounds and could not avoid a trip to the penalty loop. They finished 23.9 seconds behind the Norwegian team that needed only 4 reserves for the win. Belarus finished 3rd, 40.2 seconds behind the winners. The U.S. team ran into early trouble when Kelly Kjolien needed to make four trips around the penalty loop and the start leg.

The Junior men's relay was won by the German team who led for the entire race. They finished more than a minute up on the French and Russian teams. Also winning by over a minute, the Russian team won the Youth men's race over France and Norway. The U.S. team of Casey Smith, Raleigh Goessling and Conrad Roberts needed nearly all of their reserve rounds and 3 penalty loops, to finish 19th. Following the championships the U.S. team felt they had good races but are looking forward to another chance at next year's championships in the Czech Republic at Nove Mesto.

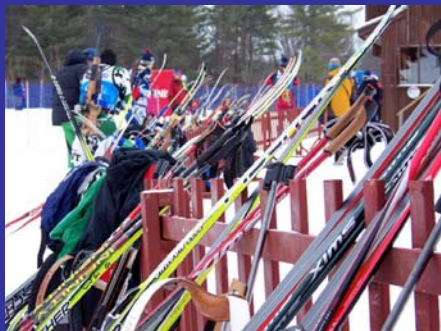

NorAm Cup 4 – U-26 Trials

The week prior to the North American Cup 4 races at Jericho, the east witnessed a few days of warm weather and a day of heavy rain that severely impacted ski conditions, Jericho included. But the few days of warm weather were immediately followed by below normal temperatures and the National Guard went to work with around the clock snow-making at the Ethan Allen Biathlon Training Center. By the end of the week and just in time for the races on the 6th and 7th of February, they completely covered the range and 2½ kilometers on the ski trails. Despite the continuing cold weather which saw near 0° F on race mornings, a large turnout of athletes including Canadians and National Guard athletes in the various classes started the races which also served as a part of the U-26 Championship team trials.

Sprint Race – Tracy Barnes-Colliander led the senior women, winning with a time of 22:42, missing 1 standing target. Also missing a standing target, Hannah Dreissigacker was second with Susan Dunklee in third place. Susan missed a total of 4. Patricia Driscoll was the only master woman and finished the 6 km race with a time of 29:29 and 6 penalties. Erikka Neimi of Ontario was the junior women's winner ahead of Vermont's Danika Frisbee. Aleksandra Zakrzewska of the local Ethan Allen Biathlon Club took the youth women's race ahead of her teammate Missy Manning.

Casey Simons topped the large senior men's field with a time of 26:54 (2-1) while Russell Currier was 2nd (27:18, 2-3) and Zach Hall took the 3rd spot (27:23, 2-2). Canadian Vincent Blais won the junior men's race ahead of Vermont's Mike Gibson. The youth men's class was dominated by Canadians as no U.S. athletes were entered in the category. Ontario's Ari Niemi won the masters category ahead of "super-vet" Kieth Woodward and Saratoga's Brian Wieghaus.

Pursuit Race – The cold weather didn't let up for the pursuit race which was run as a Pursuit Format using 30 seconds individual starts. Annelies Cook won the senior women's race with Hannah Dreissigacker taking her second silver medal of the weekend. The U.S. Army's Jennifer Wygant was third. Patricia Driscoll was again the only master woman in that class as were Danika Frisbee and Erikka Niemi in the junior women and youth class. Missy Manning and Aleksandra Zakrzewska reversed their finish from the previous day.

The senior men's race turned out to be a very competitive one with Zach Hall using better shooting to take first, 21 seconds ahead of Russell Currier, who was only 2 seconds ahead of Jesse Downs with Casey Simons just 5 seconds behind Jesse in 4th. Canadians took the men's younger categories while Keith Woodward won the masters division. Brian Wieghaus was again 3rd behind Canadian Ari Niemi. The NorAm series moves to Lake Placid for number 5, which will also be the final race in the U-26 team selection criteria.

Regional Racing – Activity Picks Up

The Winter Olympic Games always attracts attention and as the countdown to Vancouver gets close, there is an increase in activity in regional programs around the country. On the weekend of February 6-7th the Colorado Biathlon State Championships at Snow Mountain Ranch drew a very large field for the weekend sprint and pursuit races that included 12 women and 29 men in the senior class as well as competitors in the junior, youth and boys classes. Jenny Abraham and Brian Woodward were double winners for the senior class. In New York, the NYSSRA Empire State Games qualification series ended with its 7th and 8th race at Osceola and Old Forge. The NYSSRA series continues to attract increasing numbers and recently saw a surge in the participation of juniors. Following a NYSSRA effort during last summer which was directed at introducing high school skiers to biathlon, some of New York's faster skiers tried their first races with great success. Carly Wynn of Queensbury, last year's H.S. Champion was perhaps the most noticeable while Maddie Phaneuf of Old Forge, one of the state's best J2 skiers cleaned her targets in only her second race. 38 athletes qualified for the Empire State Games at Lake Placid through the NYSSRA series, and the series will end with a Championship race open to all NY athletes on February 27th. Races held in Anchorage, AK and the Methow Valley, WA are increasing their numbers as well.

Olympic Preview – Who to Watch

When asked who will be the athletes to watch at Vancouver, one cannot ignore Norwegian biathlete Ole Einar Bjørndalen (nine career medals) who has an outside chance to leave the Games as the most decorated Winter Olympian in history (countryman and cross-country skier Bjorn Daehlie holds the Winter record, with 12 medals). The most successful biathlete in the history of the sport, sweeping all four gold medals at the 2002 Salt Lake Games as well as one in 1998 at Nagano, winning a total of 14 World Championship titles and a total 92 World Cup victories, he'll have five opportunities at these games to get gold No. 6 -- and possibly 7 and 8 -- and is among the favorites in every race. Next to Bjørndalen is his younger 24-year-old teammate, Emil Hegle Svendsen who could easily be either Norwegians Ole Einar Bjørndalen and Emil Hegle Svendsen are predicted for multiple Olympic medals.

Sweden's Helena Jonsson is the World Cup leader and top candidate for Olympic titles in Vancouver.

As the first American biathlete to wear the yellow bib, it is hoped that Tim Burke will win the first U.S. Olympic medal in biathlon.

leading or chasing Bjørndalen across the finish line in any of the competitions. He completed his pre-Olympic competition period with two wins in the Ruhpolding World Cup Sprint and Mass Start races and goes to Whistler as a co-favorite with the potential to take home several medals. The two Norwegians are joined on the team by the veteran 1998 Gold medalist, 40 year-old Halvard Hanevold and two-time Gold medalist at the World Cross-Country Championships, Lars Berger. The Norwegian men's team will definitely be a factor in the relay.

While the Norwegians look to be the top picks, there is a varied group of others who are also looking to make their Olympic efforts successful. Germany's Michael Greis who won the Individual and Mass Start races in Torino has had a slow start to the season, but has showed improvement in January. His young teammate Arnd Peiffer looked sharp in the World Cup at Antholz and could be the next German star that Greis was in 2006. The Russians can never be overlooked when it comes to Olympic Games, however this time they'll be counting on their relay team and the young Evgeny Ustyugov, who with a couple of wins as well as wearing the Yellow bib has to be considered a medal candidate. The Austrians also have a good relay team and hopes that Christoph Sumann, Simon Eder, Dominik Landertinger and Daniel Mesotitsch who have all been on the podium this season can capture individual medals. Beyond them Simon or Martin Fourcade of France, Tim Burke of the USA, or Bjorn Ferry of Sweden, or the speedy Klemen Bauer of Slovenia all could be on the podium if everything falls together. Of course there is most certainly going to be at least one surprise like Jeremy Teela's finish at Whistler last season or Jay Hakkinen's efforts in 2006 as any one of 30 men have the talent and skills to win or be on the podium. The U.S. men's team will look for Lowell Bailey to lead off a great leg and finish in what most certainly will be a highly competitive relay race.

On the women's side, the U.S. would be only an outside possibility for a medal performance. The leading contenders are the Swedish duo of Helena Jonsson and Anna-Carin Olofsson-Zidek. The two have been consistent all season, leading the World Cup and are unquestioned medal contenders. The German women are led by Magdalena Neuner and Andrea Henkel. Although they started the year slowly, they improved rapidly in the final races before the World Cup break for the Olympic Games. The Russian, Norwegian and French women cannot be overlooked. Svetlana Sleptsova, Olga Zaitseva and Olga Medvedtseva have all had bright moments during the World Cups and will hope to be a factor in the battle for medals. Tora Berger and Ann Kristin Flatland have been on the podium and look for them to be in fight to stand on the Olympic podium. Sandrine Bailly and Sylvie Becaert were competitive in January and look to be heading for a peak at Whistler, which may translate into success for them. The relay will feature each of these women on very competitive teams that should see a close and exciting battle for the medals. The U.S. women will be looking for Haley Johnson and Sara Studebaker for the best individual results and with Laura Spector and experienced Lanny Barnes to improve on their relay 2006 results.
